Mark

During this time of being at home., Mark Wallinger has been talking to other British artists about ideas of art we could all be doing while at home.

One thing he has suggested is that we all draw our own hand and put it in the window of our house as a kind of nationwide wave.

“The idea is that it becomes a gesture of contact ... to wave at someone is a thing we all learned to do very early on.”

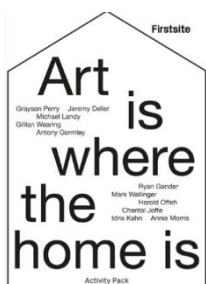

Your challenge this week is to create art by drawing around your hand and then creating something from that.

You can use whatever you have - maybe you just have a pencil, maybe just a pen, crayons, oil pastels, paints. Whatever you have, make sure you add detail and look at creating different patterns.

Here are some ideas to start you off.

When you have finished it, can you put it up in your window to wave at people as they go by? It might cheer them up, reminding them that we are all in this together.

If you want to get the Ultimate Artist Pack which will give you ideas for what you can do at home during this time, then it will be out soon at this website:
