Article 28 – the right to education
Every child has the right to an education.
Primary education must be free and different forms of secondary education must be available to every child.
Discipline in schools must respect children's dignity and their rights.
Richer countries must help poorer countries achieve this.

In your work books, write the date, title and draw the thought bubble.
Write your ideas all around it.

Why is the right to education important?

HOW MANY OF THESE DID YOU GET?

Education is important to children and young people because it will help them to:

- have skills to improve things and help people
- form opinions and views about things
- learn things, gain knowledge and pass exams
- know how to stay safe and healthy
- learn how to respect other people's ideas and get on with other people
- get a job they enjoy and earn money
- make informed choices
- have more opportunities in life
- learn about things that are important for the world
- grow up to be responsible adults

You can choose one activity or do all of them (if you would like to) in your work book.

All these activities are related to...

Imagine you have been asked to create your ideal lesson timetable for a day or a week at home or in school. Plan it out and decide what you would include and what you would leave out. Make sure it will provide children with a really good quality education!

What do you think makes a good teacher? This video might give you some ideas! Draw an outline of your ideal teacher and surround it with words that describe what that teacher is like.

Teachers and learners go together! So now think about what makes a good learner? Imagine you are talking to a younger brother, sister or friend who is about to start school. Describe to them how to be a really good learner! Invent a cartoon character to represent this good learner.

You don't need to do every single activity but if you have time you can do more than one.

This article is really important right now, the way we are being educated is different. You have to be more self-motivated and a good self-manager and that's difficult at times.
