

Home Learning Summer 2 Week 7 – Geography

In Geography we will be learning about the weather this half term. What kinds of weather can you think of?

This week we are putting all of our weather learning to the test to create our own weather forecast for the UK.

Have a look at this video of a weather forecast to see what they are like.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=H0D2G4EloEk>

Activity 1 – choose the weather

We need a map of the UK

What weather might you see in each country ?

England and Wales -

Scotland and Northern Ireland -

The United Kingdom

Once you have chosen your weather, print or draw the matching weather cards.

Activity 2 – write the script

Use the sentence stems to write your weather forecast.

Good afternoon and welcome to today's weather in the UK.

The weather this week will be

In England and Wales the weather will be...

In Scotland and Northern Ireland the weather will be

Watch out for

Make sure you

That's the weather for today. Thank you for watching.

Activity 3 – practise and perform

Practise your script until you know it really well. Can you learn it off by heart so that you can say it without looking?

As you say the weather, put the right weather card on the bit of the map that you are talking about (eg. If you are saying In England the weather will be sunny, put the sunny weather card where England is on the map).

Perform your weather forecast for your family or friends. You could even video yourself doing it!