LO: To write an adventure story

SC: I can change the main character and the monster

SC: I can use adjectives SC: I can check that every sentence and proper noun starts with a capital letter

Who is your main character?

Who is your monster?

Retell your story out aloud using your plan.

What is an adjective? Can you use adjectives to describe your main character and your monster?

Spot the missing capital letters in this sentence

Captain bluestone was eaten by a giant monster. he shrieked as he was gobbled up.

Today you will be writing your story. Remember you are changing your main character and the monster.

Write half the story today, up to the problem. Use the word banks to help you.

Here is one that I wrote.

In the dark of the night, a fiddler appeared singing a song about treasure. Captain Carenot heard the song. He had always wanted to be rich so he decided that, without doubt, he had to find the treasure. He asked the fiddler to show them the way. Luckily the fiddler said that he had a map and would show him how to find it.

The fiddler told the Captain that he would show him the map if he would take him there. Captain Carenot thought that this was a brilliant plan. He was desperate to find the treasure and be rich.

As they were getting on the ship, the fiddler told them they must be quick. The island with the treasure on performs a vanishing trick. Captain Carenot thought that this was nonsense.

Today you will be finishing your story. Remember you are changing your main character and the monster.

Write the story from the problem to the end.

Soon they set sail but the filder had some more bad news. He told them that there was a monster on the island who liked eating pirate. Again, Captain Carenot didn't believe him, however his crew had begun to grow a little scared. Captain Carenot told them that the only thing that they should be scared of was him.

That night, the pirates slept very badly because they had nightmares of monsters eating them up. Some of them wanted to turn back but Captain Carenot was dreaming of the treasure and being rich.

Finally they were close to the island of treasure. When they arrived, the fidler decided to stay in the boat. The pirates jumped off as quick as they could. Suddenly, they spotted some huge eyes. Crunch! Crunch! They were all eaten.
